Baliuk Scores Winner As Cats Nip Canucks

Stan Baliuk, who was enjoying one of his best seasons in pro hockey when he suffered a broken ankle bone seven weeks ago, picked up where he left off last night.

Baliuk, who got 22 goals before being injured, fired his 23rd of the season last night as Victoria Cougars defeated the Vancouver Canucks, 2-0, before 2,352 fans.

On a night when a rookie and a veteran goaltender were both at their best, Baliuk broke up a fine goaltending duel midway through the third period.

Bruce Lea, a husky left-winger who also had a good night for the Cougars, got a gift goal in the final minute of play to end the scoring. But Bruce and Gambel, the Vancouver netminder who was playing his second game for Canucks since being up with the New York Rangers of the National League, was sitting on the bench when Lea skated in alone to tuck the puck into an empty net.

MARCEL SHINES

Marcel Pelletier, whose goaltending has left something to be desired on occasions this season, performed in brilliant fashion to register his third shutout of the season.

Just 55 seconds away from a shutout in the Cougars last outing against New Westminster, Pelletier handled everything the Canucks had to offer last night.

And at times, that was considerable.

Pelletier kicked out 32 shots, more than a few of which were of the difficult variety.

Canucks' kid line of Mel Pearson, Ted Hampson and Danny Belisle gave Pelletier the most trouble. Belisle was home free in the first period, but Pelletier outguessed him. Pearson was robbed on a great gloved hand save in the second period and Hampson missed on three golden chances in the final period.

NO CHANCE

Baliuk's goal gave Gamble no chance. A left-hand shot playing right wing, Baliuk took a pass from defenceman Don McLeod, swept around the Vancouver defence and picked the top corner with a backhand drive from an almost impossible angle.

Gamble was out of the net for only 18 seconds before Lea took Ted Harris' pass all alone at centre ice and skated almost into the net before shooting.

Al Nicholson On All-Stars

SEATTLE — Al Nicholson, Cougar forward, was the only Victoria player to gain a berth on the western division team of the Western Hockey League all-stars. He was selected as an alternate to bolster the team that plays the eastern division stars in Vancouver next Tuesday.

Seattle's Guyle Fielder was the only unanimous choice in the poll conducted among the division's sports writers and broadcasters.

Hugh Currie of Vancouver and Gordie Sinclair of Seattle will be first-string defencemen, while the left winger will be Seattle's Val Fonteyne, and right winger, Pat Hannigan of New Westminster. Bev Bentley, Seattle, will be goaltender.

Other players selected are defencemen Tom Williams of Spokane Flyers and Brent Macnab, Vancouver; centres Max Mekilok of Spokane and Max McNab of New Westminster.

Ching Johnson, Spokane, and Nicholson will be left wingers, while Spokane's Al Johnson and Danny Belisle of Vancouver were chosen for right wing.

Gordie Fashoway, New Westminster, will be the utility player.

Seattle coach Keith Allen will handle the team, and Eddie Shamlock, Totem trainer, will handle those duties.

Spokes Keep Pace In Coastal Race

Spokane Spokes kept one point behind Victoria Cougars in the battle for third place in the Western Hockey League's western division last night by shading the league-leading Seattle Totems 4-3 in Spokane.

Edmonton Flyers kept Winnipeg Warriors in the eastern division cellar with a 4-3 victory before 5,000 hometown fans. Rookie Murray Oliver scored three for Edmonton, including the overtime winner.

In the league's other game, Calgary Stampeders kept their coastal tour record intact with an 8-5 shellacking of New Westminster Royals in the Queen City.

Calgary centre Eddie Dorohoy had two goals and an assist while his nearest rival in the NHL scoring race, Guyle Fielder of Seattle, had two points.

Three games are scheduled tonight. Victoria is at Vancouver, Calgary at Spokane and New Westminster is at Seattle.
